

The Daily Courant.

Friday, June 27. 1707.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 28.

Vienna, June 15.

COUNT Staremberg has not done any thing yet with the Imperial Army he commands in Hungary, besides putting some Provisions into Leopoldstad, for subsisting that Garrison a few Months. He is now encamp'd with his Troops in the Neighbourhood of Bibersburg, that Provisions may be sent to him down the Danube; and 1500 Quintals of Meal, with other Provisions have within these few Days been sent down in Boats to Presbourg. 'Tis hop'd that assoon as the said Army have receiv'd that Supply, they will march and put a stop to the Excursions which the Malecontents make on this side the Danube quite up to Eysenstad and Oedenburg. 'Tis talk'd it will be 6 Weeks before General Rabutin will march with his Detachment for Transilvania: From which Delay the Malecontents will probably reap some Advantage. General Heister having receiv'd 30000 Florins of the Imperial Court, set out Yesterday for the Army of the Empire: He will speedily be follow'd by the Prince of Hohenzollern, Lieutenant General.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 30.

Vienna, June 18. Letters from Gran of the 11th Instant, advise, that Colonel Pruckenthal with 2 or 300 Germans and some Hundred Rascians, has taken by Assault the Fort of Curenä near Neudorf, killing 200 Malecontents, and taking several Prisoners, together with 6 Pieces of Cannon, with the Loss of but 6 of his Men. Count Staremberg is on the March towards Newhensel.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 28.

Lublin, June 5. The 30th of last Month the great Council (or Diet) met agen; but only some private Affairs were debated in it: They adjourn'd to the 3d Instant, to give time to several Senators to come to it; but a great many of those Senators being still on the Road, the Session was adjourn'd till to Morrow. In the mean time the great General of the Crown is arriv'd here, and the Primate has made him a Visit. We have receiv'd Advice, that Prince Wiefnowiski, General of the Army of Lithuania, which is encamp'd at Stockliszeck, has openly declar'd for the Party of the Swedes; and designs to form a Confederacy with his Army, and to make M. Crispin who is of the House of Sapieha Marshal of that Confederacy: Whereupon the Czar has given Order to M. Oginski Captain of Samogitia, who came hither some Days ago to assist in the Diet, to hasten back to Lithuania with a Detachment of Muscovites, to joyn General Baur and then attack Prince Wiefnowiski.

Warsaw, June 13. Letters from Lublin of the 9th that are just arriv'd, say nothing considerable had pass'd to that Day in the great Council: The confirm, that Prince Wiefnowiski great General of Lithuania having declar'd for King Stanislaus, the Starost Oginski was gone from Lublin for Lithuania, to engage if possible part of the Troops of that Dutchy to continue in the Service of the Republick.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated July 2.

Hamburg, June 28. The Advices from Poland tell us the Diet at Lublin had adjourn'd themselves to the 15th of this Month.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated July 1.

Lublin, June 9. Nothing of Importance has yet pass'd in the Diet here: The Czar of Muscovy will not carry his Designs for Want of Money. Prince Wiefnowiski's declaring openly, with the Army of Lithuania under his Command, for King Stanislaus, will be of very ill Consequence to the Muscovite.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 28.

Cracow, June 13. 'Tis advis'd from Lithuania, that M. Siericki, who lies intrench'd at Bickow with some Troops, having sent out a Detachment to the Frontiers of Russia, that Detachment took a Booty of 1000 Head of Cattle, and also 3 Barrels full of Money that was sent from Moscow to the Czar, and brought all off safe to Bickow; that with this Money he has rais'd and arm'd a great Number of Peasants, posted them in the Passages on the said Frontier, and promis'd them that whatever Booty they shall take coming out of Muscovy, they shall divide it among themselves.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated July 1.

Berlin, June 21. According to our Advices from Poland, many of the Nobility have quitted the Party of the Muscovites: 'Tis talk'd at this Court, that Peace between the King of Sweden and the Czar of Muscovy is in a great Forwardness, and that King Augustus has promoted it very much.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated July 2.

Dresden, June 24. The Saxon Foot that are taken into the Services of Great-Britain and Holland, began their March the 21st: The Horse is likewise in Motion, and General Wackerbaert will speedily follow them. The Swedes still defer their Departure out of this Country; being minded, 'tis suppos'd, to see first whether a Peace to their liking can be made with the Czar of Muscovy: 'Tis certain, at least, that King Stanislaus's Party flatter themselves at this Time with Hopes of an Accommodation, and long for the Return of the Palatine of Russia, who they say is gone to Poland with a Commission on that Subject.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 28.

Copenhagen, June 14. The King of Denmark who propos'd to pass the Summer at Fredericksburg, has on a suddain alter'd his Resolution, and 'tis said will speedily be going for Holstein. Within a few Days his Majesty took a Review of 16000 Men that bat are quarter'd in and about this City, and was extremely satisfied with the good Appearance they made.
